Providing quality telephone service is a way to retain customers and project an image of commitment and professionalism abroad.

Neotel puts at your service “Numbers nine hundred”, so that you can have a single number to serve your users.

The lines 900 are valued very positively by the consumer since it does not imply any cost for the caller.

Companies that choose to implement this number to communicate with them transmit solvency and involvement for the welfare of their customers who appreciate the convenience and ease of the 900 numbers. In addition, it will serve to enhance their advertising campaigns.

Being a toll-free number, your calls received will increase exponentially. It will have more interaction and notoriety that will help it to improve in the future.

On the other hand, the combination of your 900 number with our Incoming call statistics module will allow you to obtain a thorough analysis and statistical review of your campaign at all levels.

Communicate in the most efficient and committed manner with the user.
